Fenwick Hymn - to Londonderry Air

Blue sparkling Sound our childish eyes first knowing;
Green meadows brightly decked with summer flowers;
Long river from your distant fountains flowing,
Through leagues of fertile fields and sunlit bowers.
Westward the coast curves to a far horizon;
Eastward the lights' tall sentries guard the main,
The distant bell in warning exhortation
Brings memories sweeter for their touch of pain.

Here at the valley's end our fathers halted,
Pitched their encampment 'neath these friendly skies;
Hard by those stones, white bleached and thickly salted,
The little settlement they founded lies.
And scarce completed each his habitation,
When by a common plan they reared this fane,
The peace of that beloved generation
Descends to bless their children here again.

Outside this portal leave we every sadness,
Setting our praise to some familiar air,
Here where they gathered let us kneel in gladness;
Unworthy, we their dauntless faith shall share.
And here uplifted hearts find consolation,
Perceiving, what no reason may explore,
A mystery beyond our contemplation,
The presence of those dear saints gone before.

Charles A. Goodwin, 1944

(First sung August 20th, 1944, at dedication of chair and kneeling desk in Memory of Francis and Mary Goodwin.)

Most Holy Spirit, who didst brood
Upon the chaos dark and rude,
And bid its angry tumult cease,
And give, for wild confusion, peace;
O hear us when we cry to thee
For those in peril on the sea.

4 O Trinity of love and power,
Our brethren shield in danger's hour;
From rock and tempest, fire and foe,
Protect them wheresoe'er they go;
Thus evermore shall rise to thee
Glad hymns of praise from land and sea.

A Fenwick Prayer

Our Father, known to us in many ways and days,
In this prized place by-the-sea,
We would acknowledge our need for thee—

in the dark of night,
in the fog and storm.

Like the ships welcoming guidance by the old Lights,
to the deep channels of the River,
We seek thy direction.
Anchor us here by thy steady holding power.

We give thee our thanks, O God, Creator and Comforter:

for this well-loved peninsula,
for its ceaseless beauty,
for the incredible bounty of shell and sand,
driftwood and flower,
meadow and marsh,
for the changing moods of the day's weather,
for the rain on the roof,
for the sunsets above the cove,
for the vision of those clear days,
for the assurance of thy order in the tides and time, for the lessons learned at the tee, the pier and the courts, for all our play enhanced by heart, our home and happiness,
for the strengthening quiet of a long walk,
for memories hallowed here by the years,
for our young Fenwickians, their delight in being here,
their joy and laughter,
their promise to each and to all of us.

O God, we give thee our thanks for such bounty—beyond our beholding.
Do Thou, we humbly pray, grant us a perspective on this place, Enabling the quality of our surrounding
To be reflected in the quality of our living. Amen.

"LISTEN TO THE SONG OF LIFE"
- Charles Dudley Warner

"This is the true joy of life: the being used for a purpose recognized by yourself as a mighty one; the being thoroughly worn out before you are thrown on the scrap heap; the being a force of Nature instead of a selfish little clod of ailments and grievances complaining that the world will not devote itself to making you happy."

CALL TO CONFESSION

Dr. Kidd

Almighty and most merciful Father, we have erred and strayed from thy ways like lost sheep. We have followed too much the devices and desires of our own hearts. We have offended against thy holy laws. We have left undone those things which we ought to have done, and we have done those things which we ought not to have done. But thou, O Lord, have mercy upon us. Spare thou those, O God, who confess their faults. Restore thou those who are penitent, according to thy promises declared unto mankind in Christ Jesus our Lord. And grant, O most merciful Father, for his sake, that we may hereafter live a godly, righteous, and sober life, to the glory of thy holy name. Amen.

The quotation by Charles Dudley Warner on the front of the bulletin was over the mantel in the home of Marion Houghton Hepburn Grant's parents.

The words of George Bernard Shaw were submitted by Marion Houghton Hepburn Grant for publication in the 1982 AHCC Lenten Meditation booklet. She prefaced this quotation with the following words:

"Because our mother kept the following statement by George Bernard Shaw on her dressing table, the children in our family read it many, many times---and it made a deep impression on all of us."

St. Mary's - by - the Sea

Fenwick,
Old Saybrook, CT

October, 1994

Dear Friends of St. Mary's:

St. Mary's is now over 100 years old and we felt it was time to take a look at the building to make sure it will still be in good condition 100 years from now.

In mid-September a contractor was hired to repair 12 piers. He has identified a few more that should be repaired in the near future. A heavier gauge lattice has been installed eliminating the need for wire to keep out the golf balls.

We have had a very generous donation, from two Fenwick residents to re-shingle the roof on the west side, with stronger shingles. At the same time, we are hoping to re-shingle the damaged walls on the west side.

Our stained glass window has been evaluated and has been found to be in good condition. However, we have had some leaking through the caning. Since that part of the building is now level we are having an expert in stained glass windows reseal the window from the exterior and install permanent plastic protection.

Our future plans involve repairing or replacing the Connecticut flag; bringing in an expert to evaluate the condition of our interior wood; painting the exterior; and planting new bushes to help protect the west side from golf balls.

Thanks to many strong supporters of St. Mary's, especially at the time of the chapel's 100th birthday in 1987, we have a small reserve. We feel this money should be left intact. At this time we are asking for donations from the community to accomplish these projects. St. Mary's is a focal point of Fenwick whether one attends services or not.

St. Mary's is a building rich with history. In the spring we hope to have a speaker talk to us about the historical and architectural significance of the chapel.

Please feel free to contact any of us if you have any questions. We have enclosed a return envelope for your convenience. All donations are tax deductible to the full extent of the law.

Sincerely yours,

Sallie

Summer 1994

Old Saybrook

Church atmosphere belies borough's reputation for aloofness

By ALIX BIEL
Courant Staff Writer

OLD SAYBROOK — Privacy and constancy are watchwords in the posh borough of Fenwick, where residents play golf and tennis and swim off the sloping shores as they have since their blue-blooded ancestors founded the summer colony more than a century ago.

But at church, the sanctity of tradition and the legendary aloofness of Fenwickians both disappear.

At St. Mary's-by-the-Sea, an unassuming chapel west of the first green of the Fenwick Golf course, guest preachers take turns on the pulpit each week. A welcoming warmth emanates from the pews, they said.

"There's a wonderful sense of family there," said Joshua L. Crowell, pastor at the First Congregational Church in Essex, who has led a summer service for at least the past 10 years.

"It's sort of like an adjunct of my congregation," he said. "I feel at home there."

Crowell is "a real favorite of people in the borough," said Sallie P. Boody, one of three chapel trustees with her sister, Julie Parsons, and her cousin, Ethel Davis.

St. Mary's opened in the 1880s after worshipers outgrew a local family's living room, where they had congregated because the horse and carriage trip to Old Saybrook's churches was too far.

The homey chapel on Agawan Avenue is as much a part of Boody's heritage as summers on the scenic peninsula.

Her grandfather, J.H.K. Davis, known as "the Pope of Fenwick," first started inviting guest preachers. Boody's mother, Martha Soper, inherited the job, then passed it on to her daughters, who invite ministers of various denominations to lead the prayers.

As children, Boody and Parsons were responsible for posting a sign out front just before Sunday services, advising golfers to steer clear of the chapel for the duration of the 40-minute service. Over the years, the building has taken its hits; scuff marks dot the sides and roof, and Boody's husband, Robert, sometimes has to play the organ extra loud to drown out the balls.

"The golf balls striking the side, it's down home," said Crowell.

K. Dexter Cheney, pastor at All Saints' Episcopal Church in the Ivoryton section of Essex, who led his first service at St. Mary's last weekend, said the golf balls were "totally amusing" and part of an "absolutely delightful" morning in the borough.

Cheney said the 48 people who turned out for last Sunday's service were "very responsive . . . relaxed and attentive." He said he was "very warmly received" by the Fenwickians, who have a reputation for standoffishness.

Peter B. Grandy, senior associate minister at the Asylum Hill Congregational Church in Hartford, also finds the Fenwick congregation a welcoming one. Grandy knows many worshipers who attend his church in the winter and has become acquainted with others in his four years preaching at St. Mary's.

"They're very friendly. They appreciate you coming down," he said. "They make it very easy."

Services at St. Mary's are no different than services at any other area church — except for the Fenwick hymn written in 1944 and sung at the first and last service of each summer.

"There are few dry eyes when we sing it at the end of the summer," Boody said.

Services at St. Mary's begin at 11 a.m. every Sunday except Aug. 14. The public is welcome.

Church Carvings Done By Lebanon Craftsman

By CLIFF KNIGHT

LEBANON, July 6—It was one of those extremely hot, humid afternoons that we went to visit Gottlieb Laibradt on Village Hill Road. It's a pleasant farm home, with its rolling acres stretching in the rear as far as the eye could see.

For at one time Laibradt operated it as a dairy farm. But now his son John, with the latest in farm equipment carries on and Liebradt is taking a well-earned rest from what we found was a busy, eventful life.

Laibradt is the man who did all that marvelous interior woodwork for the restoration of Lebanon Congregational Church. He also designed and helped build the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer which is located across the road from his home and on the site of where the Village Hill School once stood.

Born In Russia

Gottlieb Laibradt was born in the Ukraine (Little Russia) which has always been distinct from Great Russia, to the north. And it was in this country by the Black Sea that he started, at the age of 18, to learn the carpentry and woodworking trade. He came to the United States in 1913. At Cambridge, Mass., he found employment with a woodworking company that made store fixtures. He was paid 50 cents a day and out of this came board, and room and clothes. He worked for this very moderate wage, until finally they raised his pay to $15 a week.

Comes to Lebanon

In 1919, he left the Bay State and came to Lebanon where he brought a 100 - acre farm. He decided to be a dairy farmer and put away the tools of his trade, as he thought, forever.

Then came the hurricane that devastated Connecticut in 1938. Gottlieb was called upon to help with rebuilding. He built chimneys, houses and barns. Then he built the Lutheran Church that was dedicated in 1944.

Townfolk who knew of Gottlieb's skill called on him to do the interior woodwork on the Lebanon Church which had been practically demolished by the hurricane until nothing was left intact but the facade. The church had been built originally in 1807 and was designed by the famous Revolutionary architect and painter, Col. John Trumbull, a student of Christopher Wren.

Restoration plans were provided by the late Frederick Kelly, of New Haven who won a great name for his restoration and design of Colonial buildings. With bits of moldings that were recovered from the wreckage of the church, Gottlieb started work. He set up his machines in the church and for four years he toiled, with many discouraging moments when there was so little to follow in the way of Colonial design. The egg and dot cornice is a very important feature of the interior design. He made, by hand, 8,000 diamond designs for around the windows.

Following the dedication ceremonies at the church in 1950, Gottlieb again hung up his tools and prepared to spend a quiet slippered life by the fireside. But they just wouldn't let the skilled hands stay idle. From Fishers Island came a man who operated amusement rides. It seems some of the wooden animals needed restoring. So he went to work again carving, with the peculiar long keen knives that he has equipped with long slender curving handles.

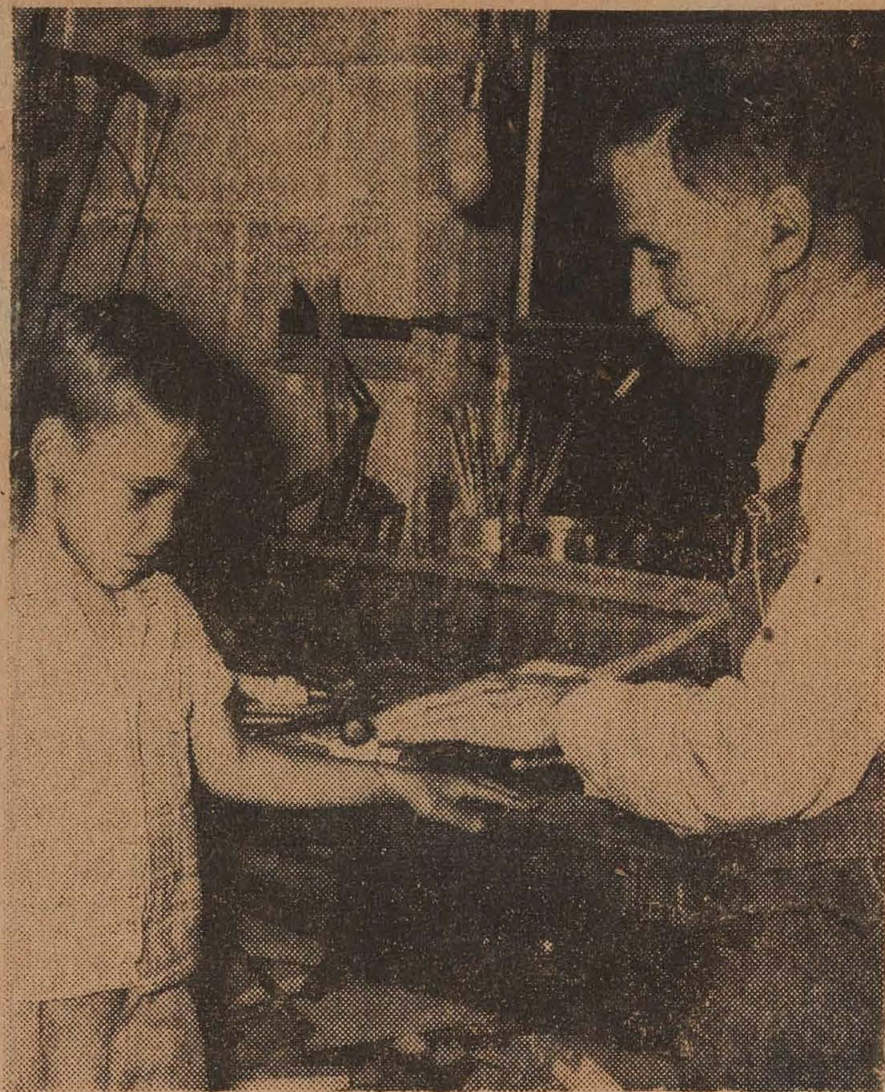

By the way, we found he made the knives' keen blades himself, using files, because the steel in files is usually so good. He used ash for the handles, and a bit of copper tubing to join the blade with the handle.

When we arrived at his house, he was enjoying a TV program. He took us to his shop, where tools hang in orderly array.

He fingered them with loving care. But, with a sad smile he turned away.

"No more will I use them."

We wonder.

GRANDPA'S SURE A WIZ: Charles Bender, 9, looks on admiringly as Gottlieb Laibradt shows his grandson some of the intricate tools he used to carve ornamental woodwork. Charles has three brothers, Kurt, James and Ronald. As yet, he hasn't indicated whether he will try to follow in Grandpa's footsteps. Liebradt, an ingenious man, makes some of his own tools. Among them is a power saw. Occasionally, he widens his field of activities, like the time he made a reproduction of a Grandfather's Clock (Cliff Knight Photo).
